Before you Begin:

Special Effect Finishes add drama, visual depth and dimension to your home in an easy and inexpensive manner. What follows would basically familiarize you with the products and techniques used to create Royale Play Special Effects.

Most special effect techniques begin with a base coat of paint followed by a top coat of glaze. The glaze retains the pattern left by the tool that created it at the same time, providing greater workable time to create the effects. Special Effects tools used to create these effects are available with our dealers.

Have fun and enjoy yourself while creating the special effect finish of your choice.

You will Need:

Well prepared surface (primer + stucco + primer)

Basecoat - Berger Paints Royale Silk Emulsion

Topcoat - Berger Paints Royale Play Glaze

Application Roller

9" Roller Tray

Masking tape

Soft absorbent cloth

Flat household sponge

Standard Practices to be followed

Décor Selection: The colour combination and effect should be selected keeping the rest of the colours and décor elements present in the room, in mind (furniture, carpets, curtains, etc)

Surface Preparation: Complete system of Primer + stucco + Primer should be undertaken before the base coat is applied. The surface should subsequently be well prepared, smooth and non absorbent.

Base Coat Application: Only specified basecoat of Royale Silk Emulsion should be used. No other matt paints to be used as they may be too absorbent impairing the production of the desired effect.

Top coat Application: Working in pairs produces best results, while one applies Berger Paints Royale Play, the other person creates the special effect. Apply topcoat in small manageable sections (3 ft X 3 ft) and not the entire wall at a time. Leave 'wet edges' - margin of unworked paint at the end of each section to allow blending with the next section of paint. Speed is important as topcoat starts to dry in 30-40 minutes. If the leading edge dries, you will have a lap mark. It is important to stand back and look at the wall every now and then to make sure that a uniform effect has been achieved.

Useful Hints and Tips:

Six of the effects, Sponging, Brushing, Combing, Ragging, Spatula and Dapple are standard "off" effects which are achieved by first applying the top coat over the base coat and then using the tool to selectively remove the top coat to give the desired effect. Only in case of Dapple, it is important that the butter paper sheets (pasted after removing all straight edges with minor overlap) are peeled out when they start getting transparent.

For Colorwash Effect, the top coat is directly applied with the household sponge and pattern created during application. Hence, it is an "on" effect.

For the Weaving Effect, the base coat is applied in merged vertical strips (width depending on overall wall width). The top coat is then a sequence of two off effects, one in horizontal and one in vertical directions. The second top coat should be applied only after the first one has dried completely.

For the Canvas effect, two top coats are applied in tandem and selectively merged to create the hazy mix of colours giving the characteristic pattern.

For the Crinkle Effect, the unrolled Crinkle paper (tissue paper) is freed of all straight edges and then pasted (with minor overlap zones) on Berger AR Primer and then rerolled with a sponge roller to ensure complete sticking. This is followed by one coat of undiluted primer and one coat of undiluted Royale Silk Emulsion (in the Base Coat shade) once the primer has dried. Post this, the top coat shade is applied in Royale Play in a standard Colorwash pattern.

Do not judge Royale Play shades in isolation. Please check against a specified Royale Play basecoat and topcoat.

Finally, due to variations in surface and lighting conditions and techniques of application, each finished wall will be unique and different from the other.
